IT Director, Nikon Metrology

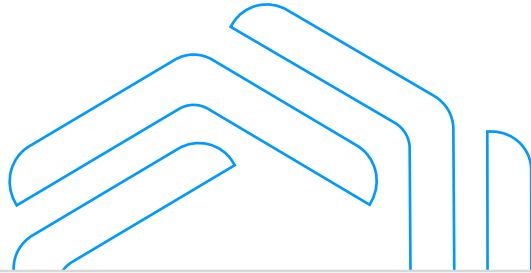

"Vivid Resourcing are now the most successful recruitment agency I am currently working with. One of the main reasons for this, is their proactive attitude. They stay in touch with the people they have placed in our team, and with me as a team manager, and as a result they are always a step ahead of the other recruiters detecting opportunities. At the same time, they manage to do this without annoying us with too many phone calls or emails. They are genuinely too professional."

IT Manager, Diebold Nixdorf, Belgium

"I have worked with Vivid Resourcing to find several experienced Software Engineers for an urgent project. I was very impressed by Vivid's understanding of my technical requirements and their extensive knowledge of the local market! it was very clear to me straight away that the recruiter was a true expert in his local field. The profiles that were presented were "spot-on", of high quality and within our proposed budget. I have been pleasantly surprised by their speed and accuracy in helping us find the right people and felt reassured by Vivid's attention to ensuring our transaction was compliant at all stages of the process. Customer service was excellent with communication being very direct and effective. Will definitely be using their services moving forward!"

Project Director, ADB Safegate BV

"Vivid first introduced themselves to ADB Safegate regarding Full stack & Frontend development roles. The roles were difficult profiles to find due to the specific nature of our software systems and technology stack, combined with the need for candidates local to Leuven/ Brussels area.

The roles were quickly filled by Vivid who provided highly skilled local candidates, most of whom stayed with us until the natural end of the project.

After the first placement we organized a face-to-face meeting where they took the time to better understand our requirements of our team and understand where further value could be added to our recruitment process. This was highly appreciated and helped our collaboration.

Working with Vivid Resourcing therefore results in a smooth process for finding candidates with clear communication from start to finish. We would not hesitate to make them our first point of call for any open positions in our team."
